

Ms. Park: Excuse me for interrupting, but I think I lost my way.

Man: You're all turned around. Are you from here?

Ms. Park: No, I am not from here. I'm looking for Bradford University.

Man: Bradford University? You can't miss it! You have to backtrack two blocks from here. Then the second street veers to the right. You go straight for two blocks.
It is near the city hall.

Ms. Park: Thank you very much. I'm sorry to have disturbed you.
You've been a great help.

Man: You're welcome. It's my pleasure to help you.

Vocabulary:

1. I lost my way – I think I have lost my way
2. You're all turned around- You are going the wrong way.
3. You can't miss it- It's very obvious.
4. You have to backtrack- go back the same way you came.
5. Veer to the right- go toward the left (right)

Role play:

1. You lost your way to the theater. You see an old man. How will you tell him your problem in a polite manner?

(The teacher will be the old man and the student will give the direction)
