

At the end of the lesson, the student will be able to:

- *to relate the importance of proverbs in daily lives.
- *to classify the essence of proverbial thoughts.

Live, Love, Laugh,
and Be Happy!

Read.

Beauty is only skin-deep. Something that is skin deep is shallow and superficial. It doesn't extend very far. To say "beauty is only skin-deep" implies that something has a very pretty exterior, but that's about all. What you don't see is hidden under the skin, and it may be more important than physical beauty.

Try to explain the following proverbs.

1. Money talks.
2. Easy come, easy go.
3. Action speaks louder than words.
4. Time will tell.
5. Every man is his own worst enemy.

Activity: Match the proverbs with their meanings.
